Description

Idrabel is a Belgian biotechnology company, which produces and markets a complete range of natural products that act on all organic contaminants (both industrial and domestic), on deposits of organic material and on pests. Idrabel's products are based on the Bio-fixation technique, which allows to fix different types of micro-organisms on natural supports. Idrabel increases the efficiency and the sustainability of the management of wastewater treatment networks, wastewater treatment plants and reduces the presence of organic contaminants in the natural environment
